Rashid is my friend. His family loves sports. His mother is a doctor and she likes running. She runs three kilometers before breakfast five days a week. She also runs marathons—that's 42 kilometers! She likes tennis, too, and she plays in a club on weekends. Her husband is a sports teacher at our school. He likes basketball, soccer, and tennis, and he also runs with his wife.

They have two children. Rashid is their son. I play soccer with him in school, and in the park after school, too. Sometimes we play against other schools on Saturdays. Rashid also likes cycling and Formula 1, but I don't. I love scuba diving, but Rashid can't swim. Aisha is Rashid's sister. She's ten, and she loves swimming and playing ping-pong. My sister is named Ruby. She doesn't like sports—she's only 18 months old!

Hi!

I'm a student like you, and I have some questions.

What apps and gadgets can you use to learn English? And is it better to learn English with a laptop or cell phone?

I'd really like to know. Can you help me with some ideas, please?

Thanks.
